Jesper Parnevik Set to Defend Insperity Invitational Title

Jesper Parnevik will lead one of the strongest fields on the PGA TOUR Champions this week in The Woodlands, TX at the Insperity Invitational presented by UnitedHealthcare.

The smoot-swinging Swede captured his lone PGA TOUR Champions title one year ago after posting three rounds in the 60s at The Woodlands Country Club Tournament Course.

“It was a fantastic win. It was such a long time since my last victory that you forget how it feels,” said Parnevik. “The Insperity Invitational is one of the best events we play and I know one of the favorite weeks of the year for all of the guys. It has the legends competing, attracts a strong field and is so organized that it makes it very special to win.”

The victory made Parnevik the fifth player in tournament history to make the Insperity Invitational his first PGA TOUR Champions victory. Others included: Ian Woosnam (2015), Bernhard Langer (2007), Brad Faxon (2011), and Esteban Toledo (2013).

International Field Swings into The Woodlands

Each of the top-30 names on the 2016 Charles Schwab Cup rankings will be in The Woodlands, TX this week. If that isn't enough, players representing 14 countries will be represented in the PGA TOUR Champions only invitational event including: United States, Canada, Wales, Australia, Germany, South Africa, England, Mexico, Thailand, Paraguay, Spain, Scotland, Ireland and Sweden.

The list of international stars who will tee it up include: Spain's Miguel Angel Jimenez, who will make his first appearance at the Insperity Invitational; Colin Montgomerie; Jesper Parnevik; Bernhard Langer; Esteban Toledo; Ian Woosnam; Paul McGinley; Carlos Franco; Stephen Ames; and Fred Couples to name a few.

International players have had a lot of success in The Woodlands. Starting with Mexico's Esteban Toledo's victory in 2013, the last four events have been won by international-born players. Following Toledo's win, Bernhard Langer (Germany), Ian Woosnam (Wales) and Jesper Parnevik (Sweden) posted victories.

Seven World Golf Hall of Famers Headline 2017 Field

Seven World Golf Hall of Fame members will lead the best of the best on the PGA TOUR Champions into The Woodlands this week.

The seven members include: Fred Couples, Sandy Lyle, Colin Montgomerie, Bernhard Langer, Mark O'Meara, Tom Kite, and Larry Nelson.

Couples Set to Return for First Time Since 2014

For the first time in three years, Fred Couples will compete in the Insuperity Invitational. The former Houston Cougar and 2010 champion, who finished second to Bernhard Langer in his last appearance here, is off to a fast start this year after being sidelined for most of the 2016 campaign with back issues. In his five starts, he owns a win (Chubb Classic), a second (Mitsubishi Electric Championship in Hualalai), a fourth, fifth and sixth-place finish. Each of his 11 rounds have been below par.

What the Pros are Saying...

There is just such great people here. They do an unbelievable job with this tournament. They hit on all cylinders and the players love coming. They don't miss any details here and you see that with the tribute to Arnold Palmer on the driving range. It really is a trickle down from Insuperity. Insuperity steps up and does it right. As far as the pros go, we love to be a part of it."

...Russ Cochran

"The players are so excited to come up here each year. It is such a great golf course, and awesome fans here. This being an invitational makes it so special. There are players from all over the world, and that excites all of the players. The environment created here is amazing. The people are so friendly, and a lot of the money goes to charities in the area. This is the one baby. This is the Insuperity Invitational and it doesn't get better than this."
